

Goal: my website shows general diet plans to users and can also create custom diet plans for users with preferences like their budget, diet preference & plan period. The interaction flow shows the steps for generating custom diet plans user can find general plans and read other people reviews

For custom plans user clicks on "custom diet" and form appears

Here user has to enter all the preferences like "budget", "preferences" & select plan time period

User has to fill all the inputs to enable the submit button

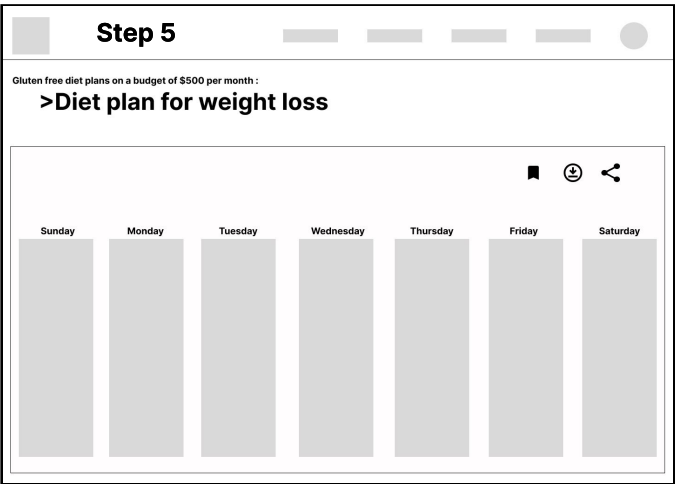

After entering all the inputs the submit button gets enabled.

clicking the "submit" button will refresh the page and generate various diet plans to choose

New page is generated with custom diet plans for the user to select

On clicking "click to view" button a new page will open showing diet plan

Diet plan page with options like share, save, and download is presented
